Friday-Sept. 26 -The day starts out again in the Territory Ballroom at 8 a.m. with donuts and coffee for social time. Craig Crease will speak first at 9 a.m. His presentation "We Do Not Want a Party of Gentlemen Coffee Drinkers... The Men of the Sibley Survey Expedition" The Men of the Federal governments survey of the Santa Fe Trail in 1825 were a stalwart lot of savvy frontiersmen. They were chosen by survey commissioner George Sibley and Benjamin Reeves for their ability to face hardship expected on the survey, and their experience dealing with the frontier. Several men were already well-known in the four-year-old state of Missouri. Some went on to become nationally famous and contribute to the vast legacy of the American West. This is the story of the men of the Sibley Survey. Dr. Elliot West following him at 10:30. Dr. West will present on the Sibley Survey in 1825, into a larger prospective to give some sense of why it was happening and how it filled into the broader context of the time. In this case he will focus on the 1820's, probably overlapping a bit in either direction. His talk will dive into other government projects and explorations meant to open up U.S. intrusions into the West; the opening and refinement of routes to and especially from Santa Fe father west to California; economic interests that were fueling all this (fur trade, commerce, Pacific trade); and of course, Indian relations and how they were affected by all of this. He will introduce to us a nice cast of characters, mountain men, army officers, various ne'er do wells, and Boston merchants. If you have signed up for the bus tour, you will pick up the same delicious lunch as the previous day the group will travel to Ft Riley. The bus(es) will load in front of the building approximately 11:45 a.m. Bus(es) will return at 5 p.m. * Experience a grazing-style feast at 6 p.m. on the Riverwalk and Bridge featuring an array of food stations prepared by local chefs. Derick Doty will provide background music for the dinner guests. Weda Skirts, a 5

-piece bluegrass -adjacent vocal group, will perform in the Neosho River Amphitheater at 8 p.m.

Saturday Sept. 27- Begins with coffee and donut at 8 a.m. at The Dealership Building, 318 West Main Street, followed by the Membership meeting at 9 a.m. If you have signed up for the bus tour, you will pick up the same delicious lunch as the previous day for the Council Grove tour. The bus(es) will load in front of the building approximately 11:45 a.m. Guest will tour Santa Fe Trail, Council Grove and Kanza historic locations. * The bus will return at 5 p.m. This evening, we will dine on the western bank of the Neosho River at 6 p.m. near the site of the original crossing, under the shelter of a grand tent. Guests will enjoy a buffet style meal of smoked brisket or roasted chicken. Awards will be presented during the meal.
